

Case History No 113.

P.D.22 S.D.5. Household 62.

Kennedy, Margueretta,	Head.	F.W.59.	4.4.	Dressmaker,	At home.
" Blossom	Dau.	F.S.18.		Domestic.	At home.
" Desmond.	Son.	M.S.17.		Waiter, For	Simonds.

19th May 1947.
E.C.

This is a wooden house on the hill overlooking New ^{Ac} id to which there is access by a steep path. I approached it thou ^a All- sides on my way from Mrs Julian McDonald's. Mrs McD. ^{id} Mrs Kennedy was a seamstress and "white same as you".

Mrs Kennedy is over 60 and frail and thin. She says s ^e came from Cayman. Her husband was sent over to Jamaica -- ^{ie} was a teacher and she came with him. Her husband is dead. S ^e stays here as she has the place and can earn a living here th her sewing. She would like to go back to Cayman on a visi ^{but} not to stay. She could not earn her living there by sewi ^{because} there everybody can sew and makes their own clothes.

She had five children. They are all grown-up and g ^e away except Blossom who lives with her. Blossom has a lit ^e baby. She is not married but the name of the father was not ^{iven} and as there were two young girls working in the room ^{did} not ask. Blossom gave the child's name as "Karl" and ^{en} I said "Karl what?" she said "Just Karl". He is 7 months ^{and} is coloured.

Mrs K. says one of her daughters is married to a Sa ^{itary} Inspector (name of Sibilis?) and they have j ^{ust} been m ^{oved} to Savanna La ^{Mar} (Farm Pen district).

Mrs K. says she gets more work to do than she can m ^{anage}. She pointed to a small table in the room ^{on} and under ^{which} were piles of material w ^{aiting} to be made up into shi ^{rts}, pants and dresses. She referred to the materials as "r ^{ags}". She says now she is getting old she cannot work so qui ^{ckly} so the work piles up. She had two girls working in the room where there was a sewing machine on the bed. One girl ^{as} cutting out a small boy's trousers. The other was usin ^g the machine. Mrs K. said the former was making her own thi ^{ngs} and had come to her to show her how to. She did a lot ^{of} that. Anyone who wanted to come to her and learn she wo ^{uld} t ^{each} them. The other girl told me she was "an apprentice". Her name was Gloria Gordon. The first girl's name was Amy Fergu ^{son}.

P.D.22 S.D.5. Household 62.

Kennedy.	Margueretta.	Head.	F.W.59.	4.4.	Dressmaker.	At home.
"	Blossom	Dau.	F.S.18.		Domestic.	At home.
"	Desmond.	Son.	M.S.17.		Waiter. For	Simonds.

19th May 1947.
E.C.

This is a wooden house on the hill overlooking New Hill to which there is access by a steep path. I approached it through All-sides on my way from Mrs Julian McDonald's. Mrs McD. said Mrs Kennedy was a seamstress and "white same as you".

Mrs Kennedy is over 60 and frail and thin. She says she came from Cayman. Her husband was sent over to Jamaica -- he was a teacher and she came with him. Her husband is dead. She stays here as she has the place and can earn a living here with her sewing. She would like to go back to Cayman on a visit but not to stay. She could not earn her living there by sewing because there everybody can sew and makes their own clothes.

She had five children. They are all grown-up and gone away except Blossom who lives with her. Blossom has a little baby. She is not married but the name of the father was not given and as there were two young girls working in the room she did not ask. Blossom gave the child's name as "Karl" and when I said "Karl what?" she said "Just Karl". He is 7 months and is coloured.

Mrs K. says one of her daughters is married to a Sanitary Inspector (name of Sibilis?) and they have just been moved to Savanna La Mar (Farm Pen district).

Mrs K. says she gets more work to do than she can manage. She pointed to a small table in the room on and under which were piles of material waiting to be made up into shirts, pants and dresses. She referred to the materials as "rags". She says now she is getting old she cannot work so quickly so the work piles up. She had two girls working in the room where there was a sewing machine on the bed. One girl was cutting out a small boy's trousers. The other was using the machine. Mrs K. said the former was making her own things and had come to her to show her how to. She did a lot of that. Anyone who wanted to come to her and learn she would teach them. The other girl told me she was "an apprentice". Her name was Gloria Gordon. The first girl's name was Amy Ferguson.