Interview with Benjamin Heathe

Benjamin is 89. He was born in 1859. He shares a single room with his adopted son Phillip South, Phillip's c.l. wofe Adeltade and Phillip's and Adeliades 3 children:

1. Vanrick South 10.

2. Orville South 2. 2 3. Daniel South 1. Len Han

The room
Thehouse was formerly a two roomed structure. The other room was blown down in a hurricane some years ago.

Re Phillip

Mrs.

Phillips mother/Rebecca South, nee Rebecca Roye, was adopted by Benjamin when she was 9 months old.
Rebecca now dead, was sister to his xixixx Wife
Mrs. Catherine Heathe. Rebecca grew up with himself x and his wife till she was a woman. He sent her to school when she was a girl, but did not sent her to learn to do anything after she left school; in spite of that she was able to make her own dresses -"she could cut and make any sort of dress and yet never go to learn sewing." She had Phillip before she was married to South whose Christian name he does not remember.

Neither himself nor his wife quarreled with Rebecca because she had a child before the was married. They did not quarrel because they had given their consent to Rebecca's friendship xx with South.

Previous to her marriage to South Rebecca had used to live in a room which AXXIXIX one of his sisters had left on his land, when she went to Port Limon. This sister had died in Port Limon. Rebecca had shared the room with any male companion. This room had got too shaky however and Rebecca had had to leave it and return to share his 2 tooms with himself and his wife.

Rebecca's courtship.

Rebecca's association with South had come about as follows; South met Rebecca. They talked. South came to has house to ask his permission to to to being friends with her.

Said Benjamin: -"Him spoke to me because I was the master of the yard. Girls always give us a sign before such things. The sigh on this occasion was that she cleaned the house twice one day instead of once as part usual. She clean' in the morning, and then in the evening again. A said to my wife, -what happen that Rebecca claening house two times today one? It mus' mean something."

To Rebecca he said -" Rebecca, why y'u clean house two time today one?" Rebecca told him -"A young is coming here." HEXMINAX Allight was what he said then.

Phillip's mother:

South Arrives:

/woman

"In the evening the young man came into the yard. He was a fellow a know before. A ask him if is mi him come to or is mi wife. Him say (say) that is a young lady/that live in the ward that him was talking withthat winxxxxxxx with."

Benjamin Challenges: On hearing that, Rengamin told South -"Well sa, perhaps the footing y'u come here on perhaps a wont agree with that. A ask him if him have a home. Him say, -'not exactly, but a jus' begin to settle."

Here Benjamin added in explaination -"You know sa them young man love sweetheart life."(c.l. marriage) He was firmly resloved that he would not any "sweetheart life living." Explaining what he means by "sweetheart life" he said -"Sweetheart life is living together befor them married: some doe tank living together an' never married."

South agrees to getting married:

He told South -"If y'u see the girl an' you like her, an' you want to take her make a wife, a will marry you in mi own home, until y'u can do better. Him was quite agree'."

Rebecca becames

Having spoken to South and assured himself that the man meant to get married he allowed him to come to shere house with himself his wife and Rebecca. They all occupied the same room. The other apartment was the hall. No one slept in the hall. Sometime after South came to share house with Rebecca, she became pregnant. (As already stated, neither Benjamin nor his wife quarreled with kkkxx Rebecca. That was because they knew she would be getting married and had had his permission to becoming friends and to get married.)

Phillip the child boon to Rebecca and South was about 2 years old before they got married. In keeping with his promise, Benjamin began to buy up things like "married clothes, and things," for Rebecca. "The man was fixing up himself" in the meantime.

His parents

Benjamin's mother was Mrs. Cecila Heathe, nee Messam; his father Benjamin Heathe. Cecila and Rx Benjamin had 3 boys and 5 girls. He is the only one of these 8 children alive. He inherited hisfather's home, and knex 4½ acres on which the home was built but he sold the premises to David Roye. He did that when he was in need of some money. He did not say xe when that was.

His wife

Catherine his wife, used to do"speculation, "on bammies and fry-fish at the Junction Market, and at Alligator Pond.

His wife also used to help nurse sick people. He said with some feeling -"Oh sir there is a reward in heaven for her. She was a blessed soul. A told her to follow Christ footsteps and do good on earth. A same waxxxx Sometime for two three weeks a don't see her." She would go to nurse sick people in all districts Ballards Valley, Chocolate Hole, Rose Hall, Alligator Pond and even Port See. Some people called her Aunty Kate; she was generally known as Bull Savannah Mumma. (mother)

She never made any charges for her services:
-"Never charge a penny. Sh' jus' lef' it to the goodness of the person who call her kkkk-whether the person who is sick dead or recoverthem could give her a treat."
Sometimes got presents like aprons headkerchiefs etc.
Sometimes she got money. He did not seem to want to say how much.money.

The Junction market.

The market at unction began in 1914. It broke up many years after. He cannot remember just when, nor does he remember what was the cause of the breaking up. "It was really a horse market. Horses mules donkeys and pigs -any animal that y'u have y'u could get sell there. A sell many head a mule there, but now a get weak and can't do nothing. If didn't-have a didn't have that boy (Phillip) in the yard, and this young lady (Adeltade a don't know what a would do.

Benjamin walks with a slight forward stoop: he is remarkably preserved for his age. He was weafing a pair of sandals made from an old motor vehicle tyre. His clothes were well-worn, but clean and whole.

INTERVIEW WITH BENJAIN HEATHE.

Benjam in wasplanting red peas called french beans on the land from which he had taken offhis crop of tomatoes. The space was about a ½ of an acre. The tomatoe plants lay in heaps around the gardeh. The sticks used in the tomatoe crop lay heaped under themango tree. It was about 2:30 p.m. Mr.Ben had been planting since morning but was giveing up then, for the day, because his back was aching. To plant the beans, he had been bending from the waist. For his age his vitality is marvellous. He had planted about 2 sq. chains of thearea. He remarked heis going to pile together the old tomatoe stalks and burn them.

Major Moxy

Asked he "You know that gentleman name Mr. Moxy? Is him bring tomatoe come here. Oh! its a blessed thing him bring here. The smallest child can earn a little money from it."

Career

Benjamin shared house with his parents unti to the time of their death. It was after they had died that they got married.

School: "I spen' mi whole school years in school. At our growing up age them was not particular about age. Any time you parents can manage them sen' you." (to school) He does not remember at what age he left school.

After School: he was a fisherman and a cultivator. He learned to cultivate before he became a fisherman. He cultivated "everything" - sweet potatoes, cassava, and tobacco. He sold dalmost all thetobacco, but, said he, "a couldn't sell all the food. We have to save some of that to eat. We couldn't sell out weself. He cultivated on the land he how lives on. He did that alone; henever employed any help.

At Fishing: "When I start fishening, I was a big man. If I was having children I would have plenty by that time."

He has never owned a boat; he has always worked for some one. He had his own fish-pots.

-8-

Those for whom he used to work were:

1. Horatio Powell of T.B.S. Horatio is dead.

2. Johny Powell of Alligator Pond; -also dead.

3. Gabriel Stephenson of Top Hill; deceased.

The only fisherman for whom

Rochester he worked and who is yet alive's 4. Charles Steplenson of Green Olive. Charles lives in premises adjoining Mr. Laban Rochester's.

Charles is the last fisherman for whom he fished.

He never fished on the half. Said he, " I always fishen 'pon mi own dependency; a buy mi own tackle." He had 4 fish-pots; was never allowed to fish with more than 4. -The captains of the boats did not allow.

Some of the crew k"hands" with whom he used to fish were, on the Horatio Powell boat:

1. Thomas Elliott of Thatch Walk.

Bingham of Thad Town.

3. William Lee of Top Bull Savannah.

With Johny Powell:

1. John Roye of Alligator Pond.

2. Agustus Forde, of Alligator Pond -father of his (Ben's) wife.

3. Fedrick Roye of Alligator Pond. (Note: Johny Powell was an Alligator Pond fisherman.)

Ben does not remember who were the "hands" who used to work with him on the Gabriel Stephenson' boat. Those who worked with him on the Charles Rochester boat were:

1. Simeon Rochester of Green Clive. Simeon was harles father.

2. Uriah Sinclair of Commec Pen.

The boat captains, their names underlined as above, were in each case owner of the beat they captained.

Conditions/mm his sales: He always sold for cash; never did any credit; he had no need to XXXXXX credit. - "You have more fish buyer than give y'u have fish to sell-then, supply them. Y'u have to sell plenty for a 6d to'. but fish was plenty."

> Fish were not then weighed. Averybody sold catches "by the string." Fish "was plentyful: a that time fish dey! "(That was the time of plentful fish) He had no special customers. He sold to anybody.

He ceased "fishening a good time now -sbout

15 years ago. He dates the time he ceased to fish by the occurence of a major hurricane in which, -said he "All mi tackle -mi fish-pots got lost. A didn't feel to fishen no more after that." He had tired of the fishing life. He decided to return to full-time cultivation. He had used to cultivate part time during the period he was a fisherman.

He fished imstradant rather then cultivated because -"a could get a few ready shillings."
He did not like the sea life. It was dangerous because "many life got lost out there." Do you think there were other men who like it? -"Plenty." Some wouldn' do anything else but fishening. Plenty man wouldn' put them han' in the earth; them love the fishening." Still he does not think they have much love for the sea. He believes there was only love for the money men could get from the sea.

-In the kitchen:

The interview was given in the kitchen because it was then raining. The building was thatcheax roofed. The sides were partially thatch, partially boards and old piece of zinc roofing. It measured about 12 feet by 9 feet. (4meters by 3 meters) It had an earth surface swept clean. In one corner were two pieces of boards iximg placed flat, side by side, and having the ends supported by by a box to each. These boards formed thus, a first supporting surface about 6 feet in lingth and about 2 feet wide: (2 meters by 60 c.m.)

Little Maniel was sleeping comfortably on thes contrivance. He lay on some bedding made from old crocus bags -jute sack-cloth. The contrivance, evidently a kitchen couth, appears to be used regularly by the adult/ members of the household.

Adeliade's activities

Adeliade was cooking the evening meal. A pot of about 8 quart size boiled merrily audibly on a brisk firms open fire made on the spacious fire place. She peeled somews sweet potatoes, washed them in pudding-pan, and then dropped them carefully in the boiling pot. She was cooking some food -ground provisions, she said. She had sent to the Little Pedro fishing village to get some fish. She would wait for that after the food was cooked, -if byxmisfertunexit did not arrive in time.

now. He used to have as many as 4. One of the 2 heads he now has, is a mother sheep. he other is a lamb born to the mother sheep. He will sell the lamb. He always does that; the mother sheep isxaixaxxxxxxxx has lambs fairly often. "People" who buy his lambs take the animals to Kingston where they sell them to butchers.

Servicing the ewe: When he wants to have has newer charges for the this service.

Servicing the ewe: When he wants to have have have serviced here borrows a ram. He always does that. Whose ram? -"Issac Johnson's." Issac never charges for the this service.

During the talk Mr. Ben smoked comfortably from a home made pipe. He used home grown tobacco. He did notmake the pipe; he bought it, but had lost the original pipe stem, and had had to sube stitute that a bamboo stem for it. The pipe bowl is made from a local wood -the root of a tree Ben said. He wears dark glasses, but his sight is good.
