With donations we are never sure what we are going to receive next....This time from England

Last month PHTM received a collection of documents that belonged to a Polish man Stefan Fragner who was a prisoner of war during WW2.

Stefan Fragner was imprisoned in German camp Oflag IIB in Arnswalde (today Choszczno in Poland). After the war he became a violin teacher at Watford Grammar School in London, England.

Dog Tag and Identity-Card Museum collection

After he passed away in 1988, all his military documents and dog tag were kept by his friend. After her death, her niece brought them to NZ and decided to share them with PHTM. The donation contains the 'dog' tag with photo and engraved with the number of the German camp, military documents from Poland and his IDs of being an ex-Prisoner of War.

As the weather cools, this is a busy time of the year for group visits. We offer group visits to suit all ages.
